DRIVE TIME

Continuing the dashboard assembly for your DeLorean.

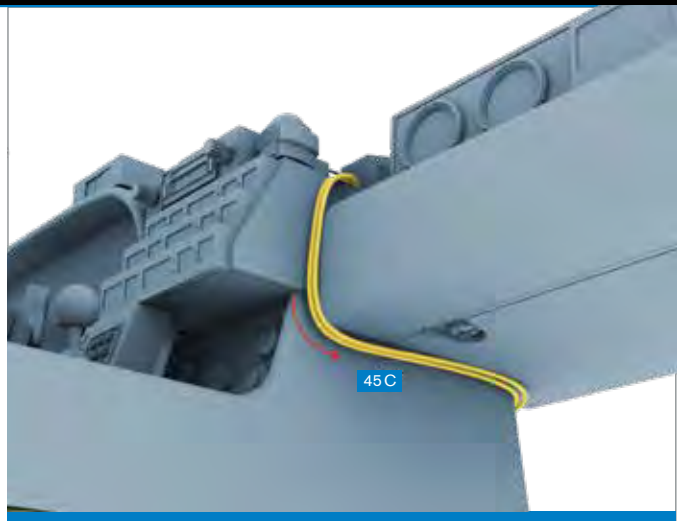

In this issue you will fit more wiring to the dashboard by following these step-by-step instructions.

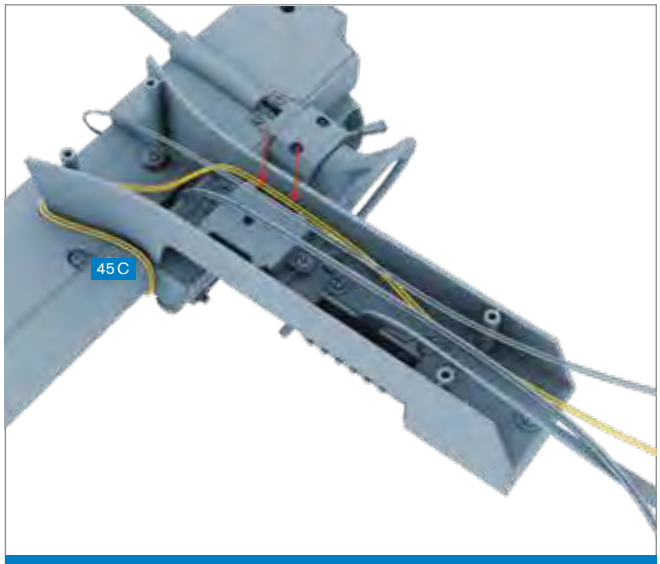

DASHBOARD WIRING

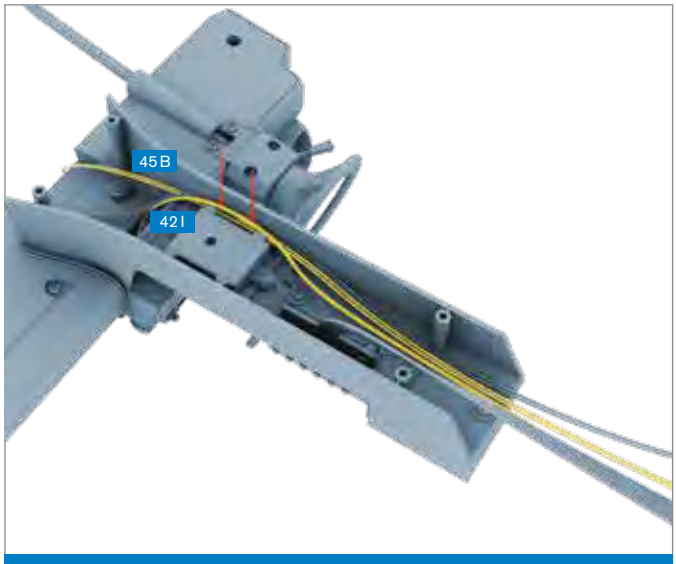

STEP 1 ›› Pass the cable from 45C between the parts shown and down the other side of the centre console.

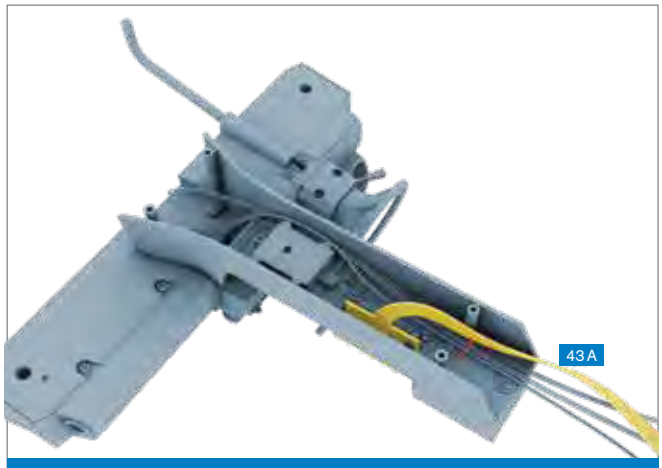

STEP 2 ›› Lead the cable down and under the dashboard.

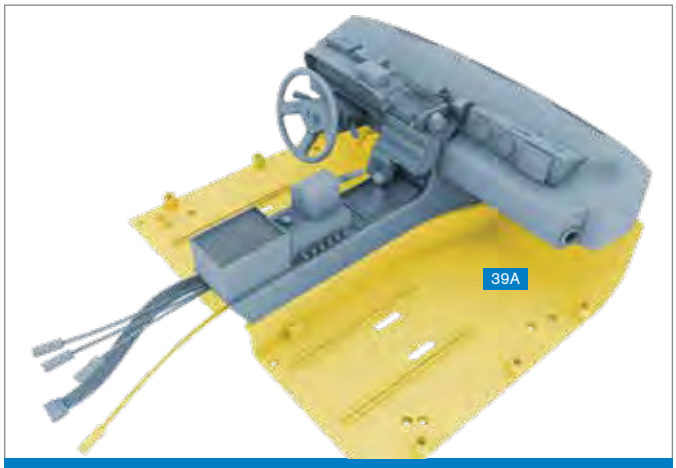

STEP 3 ›› Pass the cable underneath the centre console, and position it along the side, as shown.

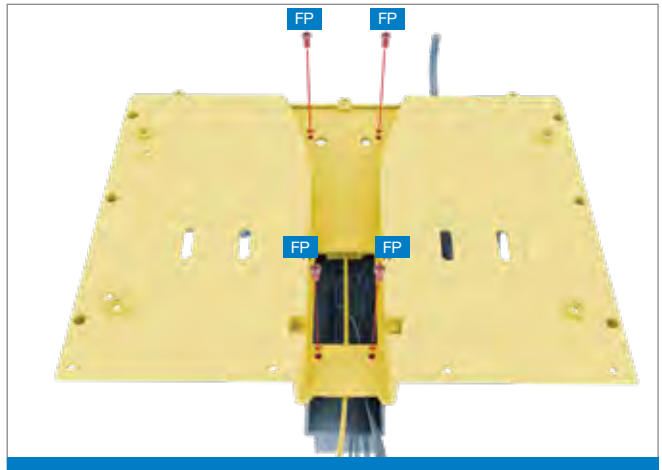

STEP 4 ›› Take the cables from 45B and 42I and place them with 45C along the side of the centre console.

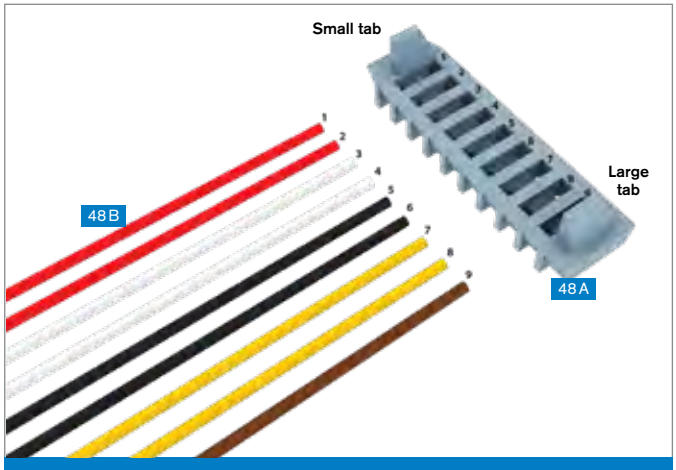

STEP 5 ›› Lead the cable from 43A out the end of the centre console with the others.

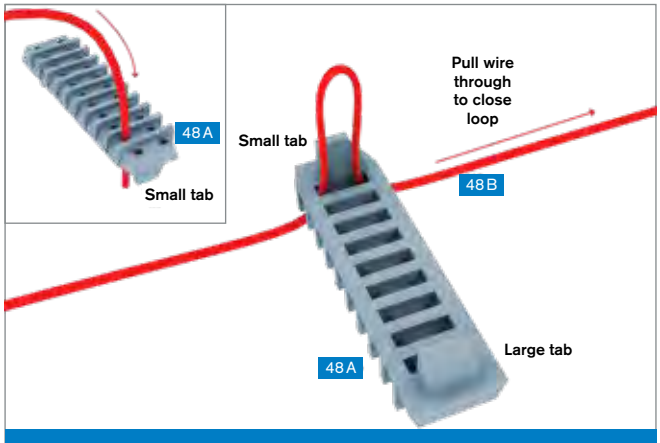

STEP 6 ›› Place the centre console and dashboard onto 39A.

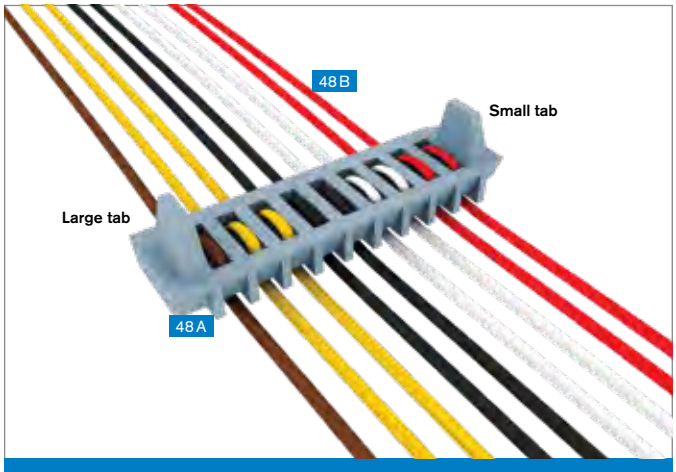

STEP 7 ›› Turn the assembly over and secure the two parts together with four FP screws.

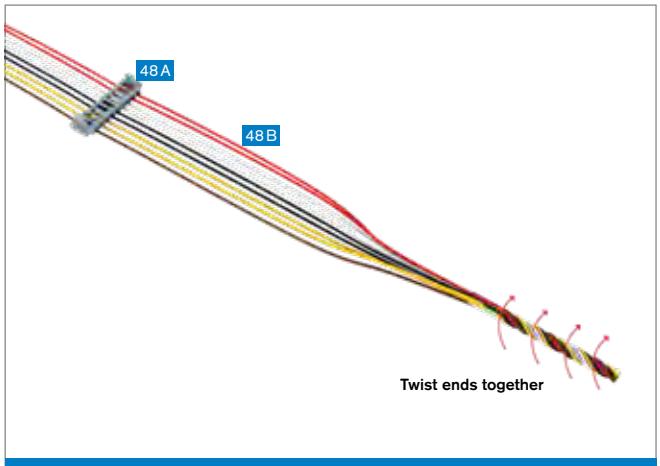

STEP 8 ›› Identify the cables 48B and match them to the holes in 48A. Check the orientation of 48A, with the larger tab at one end.

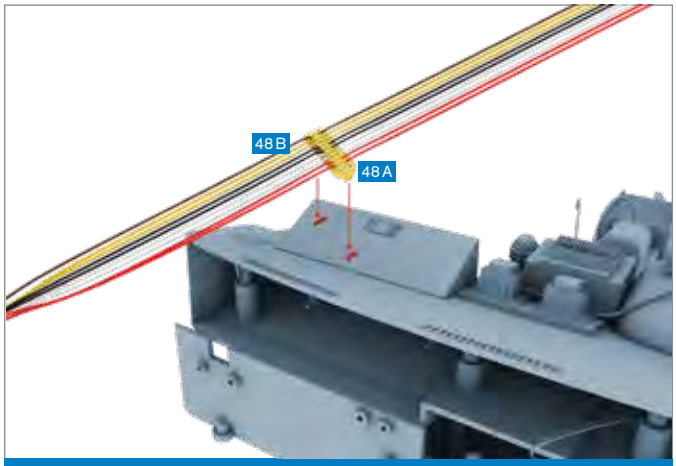

STEP 9 ›› Pass cable 48B 1 up through 48A, then over, down and through the other side. Make sure 48A is positioned in the centre of the cable, before pulling it taut.

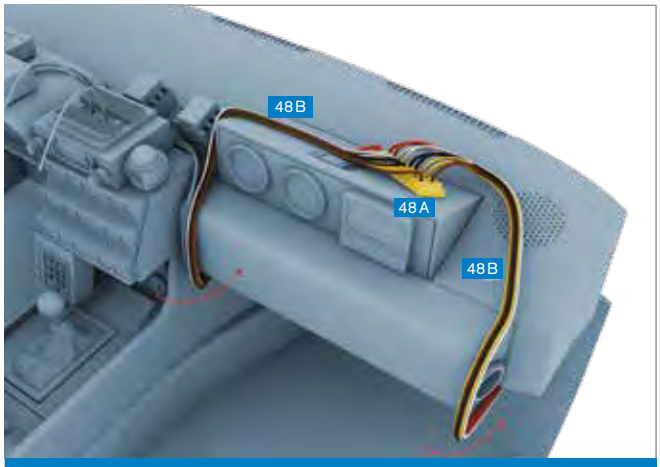

STEP 10 ›› Repeat the process in the previous step, fitting the rest of the cables.

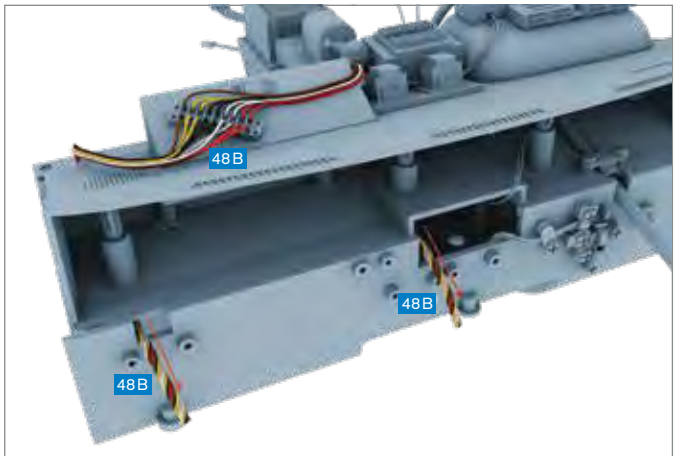

STEP 11 ›› Twist the ends of the 48B cables together as shown. Both ends of 48B should look similar.

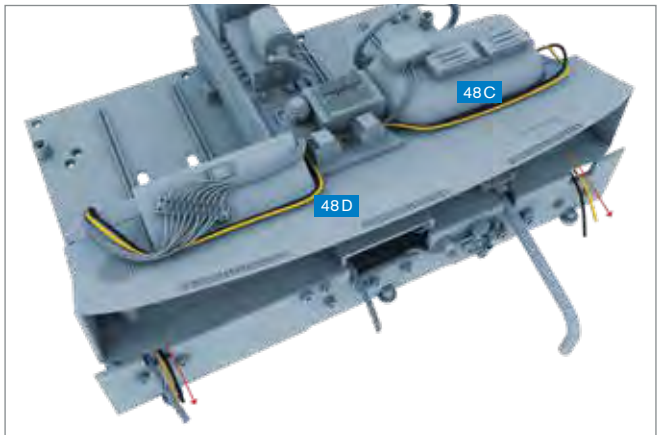

STEP 12 ›› Place the two tabs of 48A into the two highlighted holes in the casing.

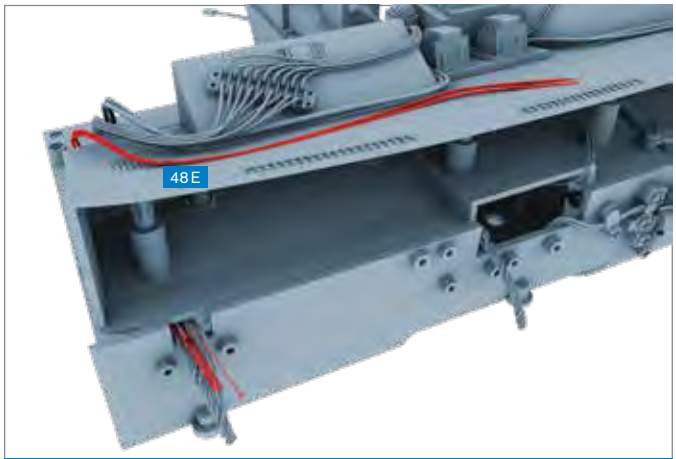

STEP 13 ›› Pass the ends of the cables down and under the dashboard in the positions shown.

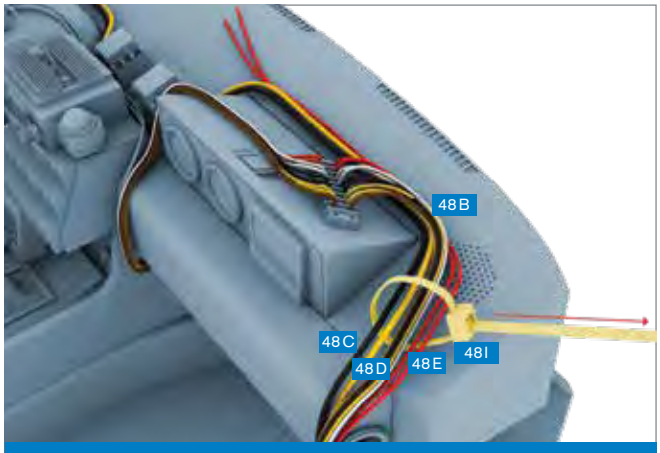

STEP 14 ›› Pass the twisted ends of the cables beneath the dashboard and out through the back.

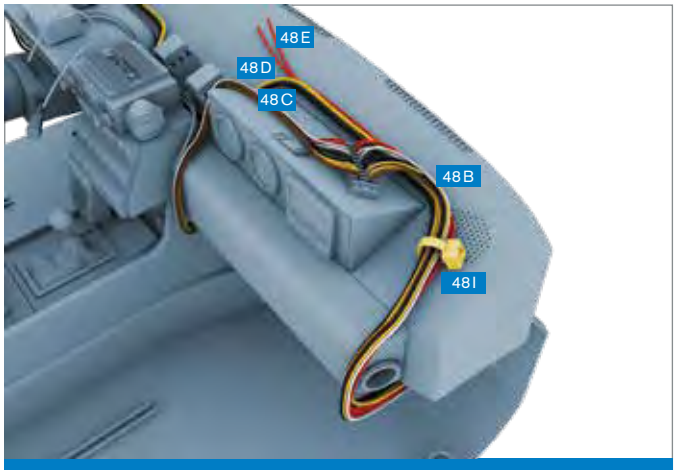

STEP 15 ›› Place 48C and 48D together and position them around the parts on top of the dashboard, then down, under and through the back, as shown.

STEP 16 ›› Pass one end of 48E through the hole with 48B, C and D, and place the other end on top of the dashboard.

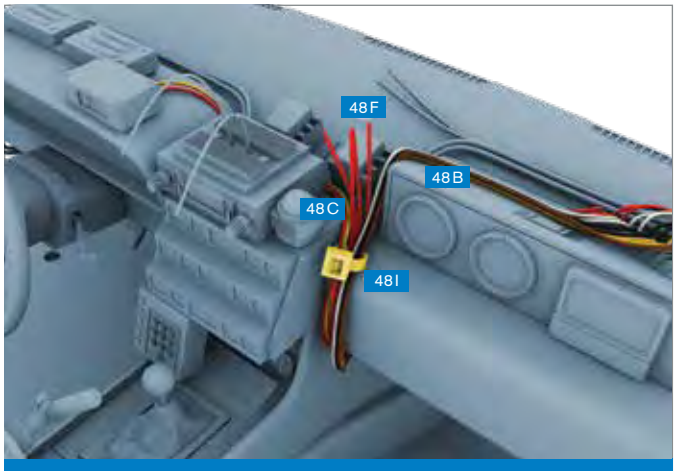

STEP 17 ›› Loop one of the cable ties (48I) around the group of cables on the right side of the dashboard and pass it back through itself.

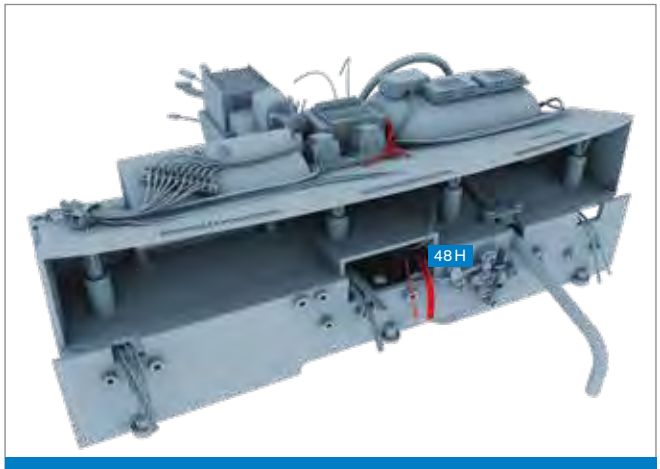

STEP 18 ›› Pull the cable tie tight, then cut away the excess from it.

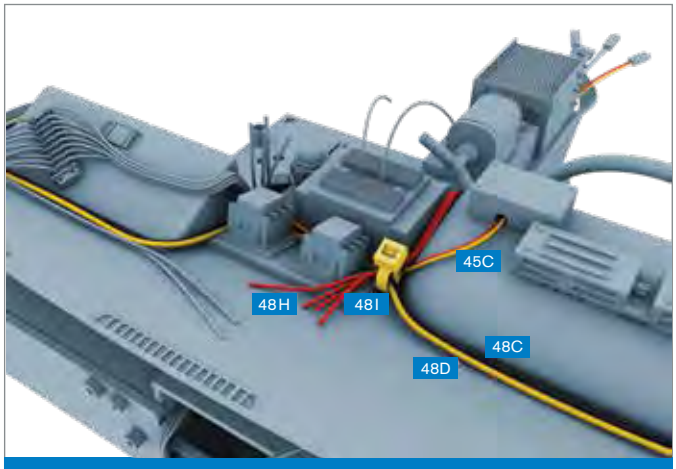

STEP 19 ›› Pass 48F underneath the dashboard and out of the back, as shown.

STEP 20 ›› Secure the cables to the right of the centre console with another cable tie 48I, and cut off the excess.

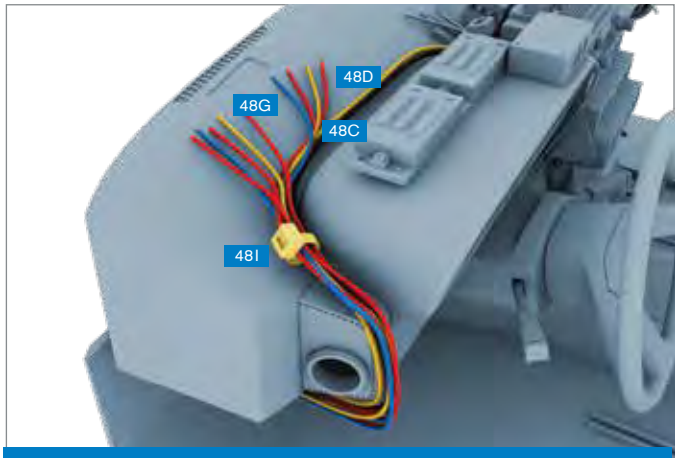

STEP 21 ›› Pass 48H underneath the dashboard and out of the back.

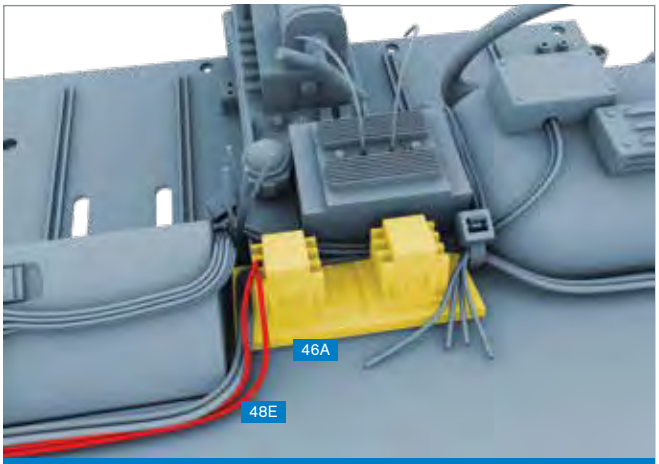

STEP 22 ›› Secure the cables with another cable tie 48I. Pull tight and cut off the excess.

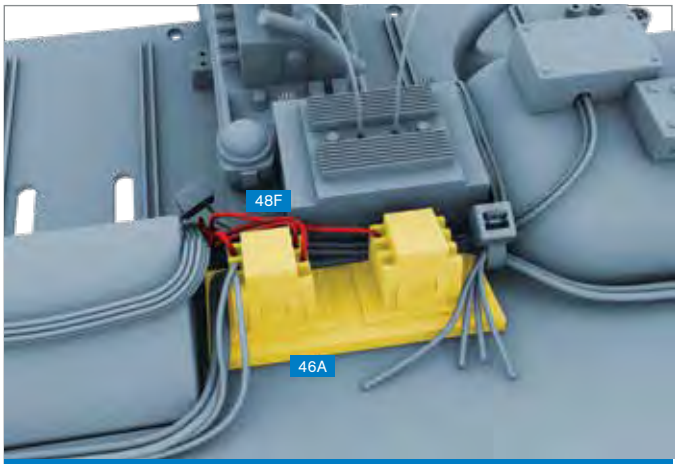

STEP 23 ›› Pass the end of 48G through the hole underneath the dashboard.

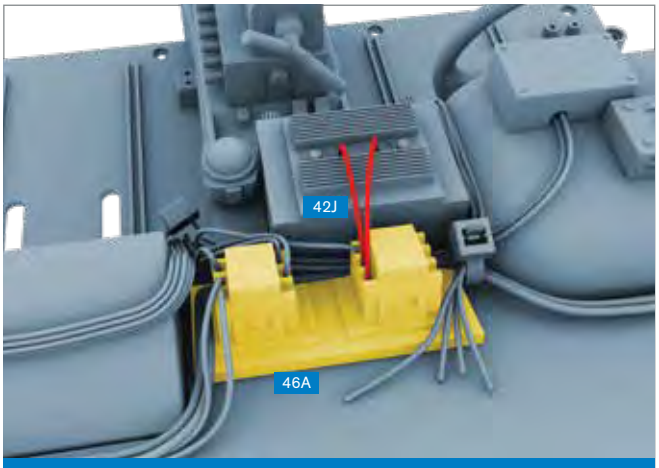

STEP 24 ›› Pull the other end of 48G up and secure to 48C and D with another cable tie 48I.

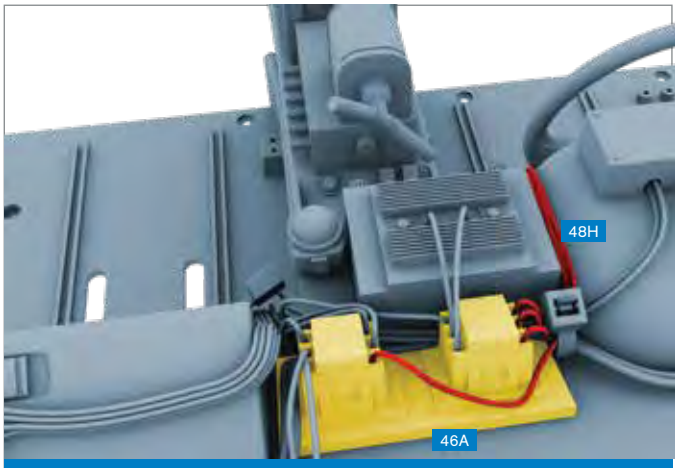

STEP 25 ›› Insert the two ends of 48E into 46A, as shown.

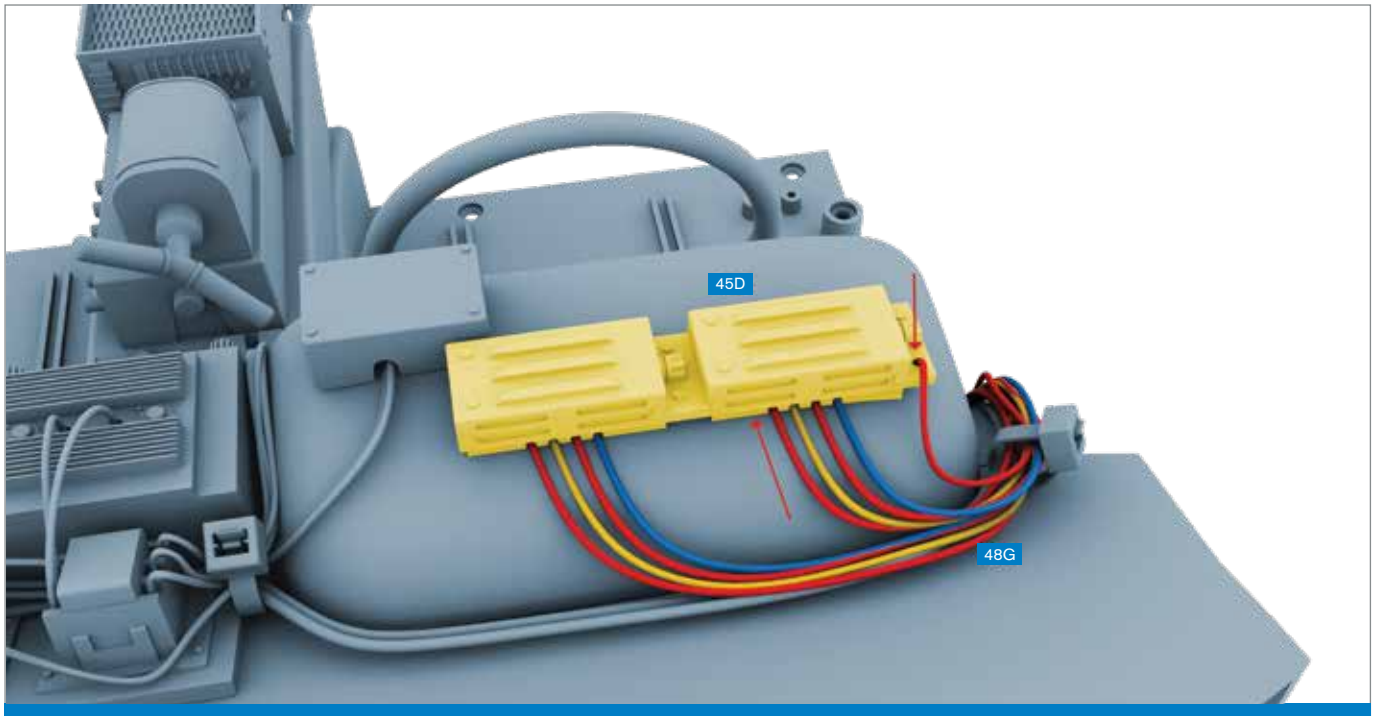

STEP 26 ›› Place the ends of 48F into the indicated holes in 46A.

STEP 27 ›› Insert the ends of the cable from the top of the heat sink into the holes in 46A.

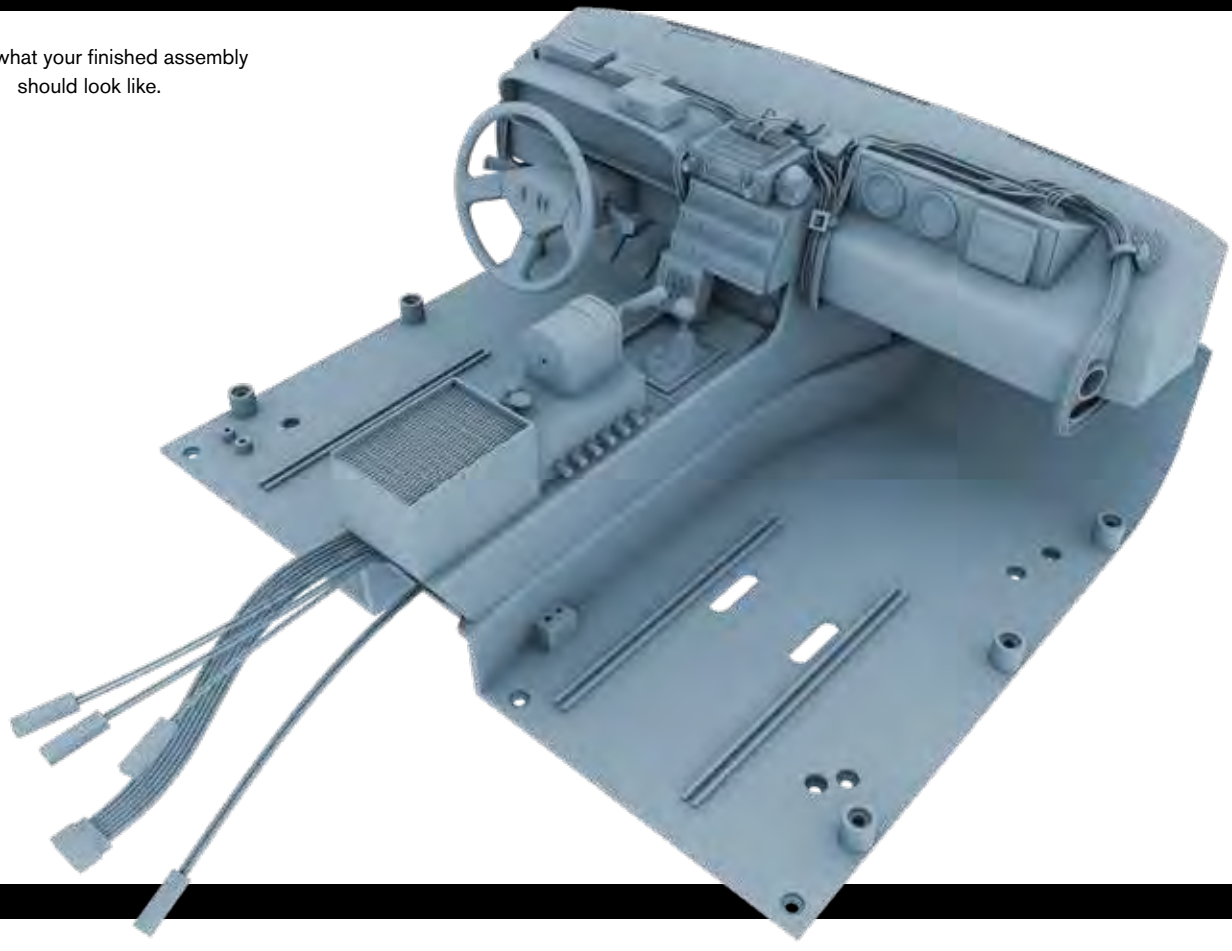

STEP 28 ›› Insert the ends of 48H into the four remaining holes in 46A.

STEP 29 ›› Insert the ends of 48G into the rear of the vents, in the order shown.

ELISABETH SHUE

JENNIFER PARKER

A look at the career of the actress who played Jennifer in the Back to the Future sequels.

When Elisabeth Shue took on the role of Jennifer Parker, Marty McFly's girlfriend, she was already something of a Hollywood veteran. Among other roles, she had played Ali in The Karate Kid (1984), starred in Adventures in Babysitting in 1987 and partnered Tom Cruise in Cocktail in 1988.

In 1989, when Claudia Wells was unavailable to reprise her Back to the Future role of Jennifer in the sequels, Shue was hired just two weeks before shooting commenced. Shue enjoyed the experience, especially getting to meet 'herself' in 2015, although the prosthetic make-up was uncomfortable.

A huge variety of screen roles followed. In a striking contrast to her run of girl-next-door roles, Shue starred alongside Nicolas Cage in 1995 in Leaving Las Vegas, which earned her an Academy Award™ nomination for Best Actress and raised her profile considerably.

She played for laughs with Woody Allen in his film Deconstructing Harry in 1997, alongside Billy Crystal, Robin Williams and Stanley Tucci, then starred with Val Kilmer in The Saint (also 1997), and played opposite Kevin Bacon in Paul Verhoeven's Hollow Man (2000).

More recently, Shue has appeared on TV in Curb Your Enthusiasm and Blunt Talk. From 2012-15 she played Julie Finlay in three seasons of CSI: Crime Scene Investigation and while on the series, she was reunited with Back to the Future co-star Lea Thompson, who appeared in an episode in 2013. ■

> ELISABETH SHUE

QUICK FACTS!

- Elisabeth Judson Shue was born in Wilmington, Delaware in October 1963. She can trace her family back to passengers on the Mayflower.
- She studied political science at Harvard and acted in commercials (for Burger King and DeBeers diamonds, among others) to support herself.
- Of her choice of roles, Shue said, "The darker, more complex and emotional the part is, the easier it is for me. But I don't take any of that stuff home with me at the end of the day."
